Brendon was diagnosed with autism at a very young age, and while he never received services at VIA, I felt supported by the VIA community throughout his life. While his autism gave him challenges, it also gave him brilliance, a unique perspective on life, and a biting sense of humor. I designated part of my estate to VIA to honor Brendon's legacy because I believe in the power of this organization. His memory will live on and support a place for adults with autism to achieve the same pride and independence Brendon did.

- Jennifer Harvey, Brendon's mom
